Leadership has far less to do with job titles and far more to do with the influence people carry.

One of the greatest myths of leadership is that you must be in charge in order to lead. Great leaders don't buy it. Great leaders—whether they have the official authority or not—learn how to be an influential presence wherever they are.

In How to Lead When You're Not in Charge, author Clay Scroggins explains the nature of leadership and what's needed to be a great leader—even when you answer to someone else.

With practical wisdom and humor, Clay will help free your team to become the great leaders they want to be.

Topics include:

- LEADING YOURSELF
- CHOOSING POSITIVITY
- THINKING CRITICALLY
- REJECTING PASSIVITY
